The "Emerald Handbook of Childhood and Youth in Asian Societies: Generations Between Local and Global Dynamics" is dedicated to growing up in the context of social, cultural and economic change processes in Asian societies. The volume brings together contributions by scholars from Asia and Europe whose research aims to give voice to young people and to reconstruct their perspectives. Established concepts and analytical frameworks of (Western-influenced) childhood and youth research are critically scrutinized and further developed on the basis of empirical analyses.

As editors and authors of the handbook Prof Dr. Doris Bühler-Niederberger (University of Wuppertal), Dr. Xiaorong Gu (University of Suffolk), Dr. Elizer Jay de los Reyes (University of Southampton) and Dr. Jessica Schwittek (University of Duisburg-Essen) will be present at the book launch. Short presentations will provide insights into the focal points of the volume and selected contributions. Afterwards, a panel discussion will provide an opportunity to learn more about the field of childhood and youth research in Asian societies and to engage in conversation with the guests.
